PASSES BILL OVER PRESIDENT'S VETO

House Acts on Budget Measure And Send it to Senate In Closing
Hours of Session

LASTS UNTIL EARLY TODAY

Many of More Important Bills Before Congress Are Cleared Away in Night Session.

(By United Press.)
Washington, June 5.—The house today repassed the budget bill, the one which President vetoed late yesterday.
The bill was sent to the senate which is also expected to act on it shortly.
President Wilson today signed the following measures:
The army appropriation bill. The appropriation bill carries with it $279,000,000.
The army reorganization bill providing for an army of 97,000.
The bill allowing the use of naval radio for press and commercial messages.

Washington, June 5.—With sine die adjournment set for 4 o'clock, both houses of the congress faced busy sessions today. Many of the more important bills were cleared away in night sessions which lasted until early today, but crowded calendars still confronted both house and senate.

The house had been notified by Chairman Porter of its foreign affairs committee, that it would be called on to act during the day on the senate resolution declining to grant President Wilson authority to assume on behalf of the United States a mandate over Armenia.

On the second important matter confronting the house—the veto by the President of the bill to establish a national budget system—leaders were undecided. Supporters of a budget system were urging that the provision which the President found objectionable be eliminated, while some republican members advocated that the bill be permitted to die and the president's veto be used as a campaign issue.

Decision of the senate to recede from its amendments adding $12,000,000 to the annual rivers and harbors appropriation bill presaged enactment of that measure which was the only one of the big supply measures not sent to the president. The original house bill carried $12,000,000.

The conference report on the third deficiency appropriation bill, carrying $58,000,000, including $14,000,000 to meet the deficit resulting from government control of telegraph and telephone lines, was adopted by both

VENUED CASE IS RECEIVED

A transcript from the Decatur circuit court was filed in the circuit court here today of the case of Julius M. Doty against Gus Ryser, sent here on a change of venue. The case is a complaint for possession, and demands $100 damage. The action involves possession of the basement of the DeArmond hotel in Greensburg.

Very little was going on in court today, the divorce suit of Hurles vs Hurles, originally set for today, was not heard.

This morning the court acted favorably on a petition for the adoption of William Amos, a 44 years old orphan of this county. The petitioners that were given the power to adopt the boy were Edward S. Bate and Jennie R. Bate, living at 330 Plummer Ave., Hammond, Ind. The judge stated that the child's mother is dead and his father's address is unknown.

SPARKS IS SPECIAL JUDGE

Named to Try Unusual Case Involving Sale of Eggs

Judge W. M. Sparks has been appointed special judge in the Henry Circuit court, to hear the case of the state against Charles Blatchfield of near Millville, who is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Blatchfield is alleged to have sold a crate, supposed to have been filled with eggs, to a grocer in Strangin. The top layer of the crate contained the eggs, but underneath of the top layer were bricks, and the false sale was not noticed until the grocer began to sell the eggs. The trial is set for June 21, and the defendant asked for a change of judge.

MOSES CRITICIZED BECAUSE OF ATTACK

Members of Republican National Committee Present Charges of "Steam Roller" Methods.

EVEN WOOD MEN OBJECTING

Discussion of Platform Planks Begins Today in Conferences Conducted by Leaders.

Chicago, Ill., June 5.—Senator Moses of New Hampshire was severely criticized today in the opening session of the republican national committee by several committeemen for a statement he issued last night charging "steam roller" tactics were being used in deciding contests from the different congressional districts.

The committee hearing contests of republican delegates began by seating the contested delegation from Savannah, the seventh Georgia district, the supporters of General Wood.

The decision of the committee apparently was influenced by alleged forgery calling for the district convention.

Senator Moses' statement apparently in behalf of Major General Leonard Wood, was objected to by committeemen who favored the general's candidacy.

The attack was opened by National Committeeman McGraw of Oklahoma.

While the committee was preparing to take up new contest claims, McGraw received recognition from the chair and launched his attack on Senator Moses.

"I can not believe nor does General Wood believe that any man of this committee has been voting for or against any presidential candidate," he said.

"The cases are being decided purely on their legal merits."
"I have been for Wood for a year and I personally resent any statement like that made by Senator Moses," McGraw declared.

Discussion of the platform planks began today among the candidates for the republican nomination, according to managers and leading republican politicians at the convention.

A series of platform conferences was started at which the treaty planks and other essential issues were gone over. These conferences will continue over Sunday.

Leading republicans was endeavoring to counteract an impression which they said had gotten abroad that the republican platform was framed in advance and brought to the Chicago convention by Senator Watson of Indiana, the most active candidate for the chairmanship of the resolutions committee.

At Least Score and Probably More
Rushville Business Men Are Planning to Attend

It is the hope of local boosters for the sixteenth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which opens in Indianapolis Sunday, that Rushville will be represented by at least twenty-five business men. Approximately a score are making preparations to attend a part of the sessions and others expected to be present at least one day of the meeting.

The business men have been canvassed by boosters for the convention and its importance pointed out to them. It has been shown that never again will they have the opportunity which is offered now, to attend the world's greatest meeting of business men, at such a small expense. The leaders of the business world in the United States, from the farthest sections of the country, will be in attendance.

The convention opens Sunday with an inspirational meeting in University park at five o'clock in the afternoon. The principal address will be made by Richard H. Lee, special counsel, National Vigilance committee, Associated Advertising Club of the World. Reuben H. Donnelly, president, will preside and Mayor Charles W. Jewett will deliver the address of welcome.

Sessions will continue through Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. All general sessions will take place in Tomlinson hall and department sessions will be held in hotel and other assembly halls in the city. Wednesday noon the general sessions and the department sessions will end and interdepartment sessions will be held at Tomlinson hall Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. Wednesday night will be the general exhibit session when the three displays of complete advertising campaigns, the features of the general displays at the state house, will be moved to Tomlinson hall and each advertising manager will explain the exhibit in detail. GRAND JURY RETURNS ONLY ONE INDICTMENT

THE AFFIDAVIT IS DISMISSED

The grand jury which reported late yesterday afternoon returned one indictment, and returned an ignoramus in the matter of Glen Sommerville, who was charged a few weeks ago with involuntary manslaughter in an affidavit in the circuit court filed by Ralph Pittman, father of a four-year-old boy who was instantly killed in Glenwood on May 4 by an automobile driven by Sommerville.

The ignoramus resulted in the case on the docket against Sommerville was dismissed. Besides returning one indictment, a report of the conditions found at the court house, county jail and poor farm, was also made.

The report stated that the court house and jail was in good condition as to the sanitary conditions and management, but that the poor farm was only in a fair condition but properly managed. No arrest was expected to be made today on the indictment returned.

The grand jurors were John G. Davis, foreman, Bert Gohce, John Arnold, Alva Newhouse, Chas. Mc Bride and L. N. Stevens.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES TO GET INCREASES

Salary Advances Amounting to About $200 a Year Provided in Bill Passed by Congress

TO BE EFFECTIVE ON JULY 1

City Carriers, Clerks and Rural Mail Men Will All be Benefitted
by New Measure

Employees of the Rushville post-office have been watching the dispatches from Washington daily for news of the progress being made by the bill which has been passed by both branches of congress, providing substantial increases in their salaries.

The conference report on the bill which had previously been passed by the house, was accepted by the senate yesterday and all that remains to be done now to make it a law is for President Wilson to sign it.

The bill provides for increases of about $200 a year for all clerks and carriers. Every employee in the local office with the exception of G. P. Hunt, postmaster, will be benefited. The measure did not include the postmasters who are not regarded as employees in the strict sense of the word.

Clerk and city carriers will receive under the new bill about $1,400 a year as a basic wage. Clerk and carriers begin their service in Grade 1 and then are advanced each year. Each advance brings a higher salary. Under the present law the basic salary for clerk and carriers is $1,200 and $100 increase each year until the maximum of $1,400 is reached. For the last two or three years however, the postoffice department has allowed bonuses of from $100 to $150 a year for employees in the advanced classes.

Under the new law clerks and carriers will receive $1,400 as a basic salary. Grade 2 employees will receive $1,500; grade 3, $1,600; grade 4, $1,700, and grade 5, $1,800.

Rural mail carriers will also receive an advance of about $200 a year. Their basic pay under the new law is $1,800 on standard routes of twenty-four miles with $30 for each additional.

The local employees have not yet received the details of the new bill but expect to have them in their possession within the next few days.

SECTION MAN HURT IN A PECULIAR ACCIDENT

James Barrett Unconscious

UNABLE TO RETURN TO WORK

James Barrett, Sr., age 57 years, a section employee of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company, was rendered unconscious yesterday afternoon, when he was injured in a most peculiar accident, and today his condition was improved, although he was not able to resume his duties.

Mr. Barrett was engaged with other workmen in replacing ties along the road two miles west of Connersville. Some fresh gravel had been dumped along the road, and when a passenger car came along, a rock was slipped out of the pile and struck him on his head, knocking him down.

He was brought to this city where his injuries were dressed by Dr. Chlen Sexton, and he was removed to his home, 928 West First street where he was reported today, as resting easy, although the injury was very painful.

DISCHARGED FROM HOSPITAL

Private Thomas A. Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Barnes of this city, who joined the aviation school at Camp Mills, has been discharged from the hospital where he was confined on account of a serious illness following vaccination.

GROCOX CHARGE QUASHED

Affidavit Charging Unlawful Use of Spotlight Nollied

The case of Walter E. Grocox, charged in police court with the unlawful use of a spotlight on his automobile, which was scheduled for trial in police court last night, was nollied, and he was released from the charge. Grocox was arrested the other night and pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for Friday night. It was learned that he was not passing another car, and as the law makes it unlawful to misuse a spotlight only when passing other vehicles, it was decided to quash the charge.

PRESIDENT TAKES CONGRESS TO TASK

In Letter to Railway Brotherhood,
He Condemns Session For Things it Did Not Do

FAILURE TO MAKE PEACE ONE

Says He Accepted Unsatisfactory
Legislation Because He Despaired of Any Better

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 5.—President Wilson today exploded the "unshell-ed" long expected by congressional leaders, in a letter to railroad brotherhoods. He bitterly denounced the present republican congress and charges to it these faults:

Failure to act or even seriously consider the problems of the high cost of living or industrial unrest.

Failure to revise the tax laws.

Failure to make peace with Europe or present any constructive plans for dealing with "deplorable conditions there."

Passing legislation so unsatisfactorily "that I could not accept it, if at all only because I despaired of anything better."

The president's letter was in answer to a telegram of the brotherhood heads protesting the adjournment of congress today without action on the high cost of living measure.

Wilson replied that he had no hope that congress would, if it continued in session and declared it was dominated by motives of "political expediency."

The president's letter was taken as an indication that he might veto the merchant marine bill which was finally passed late last night, since he specifically mentioned this act as one of those unsatisfactorily drawn. The letter was also regarded as a forerunner of what might be expected from the White House and other high sources from now on, and through the convention.

When the news of Wilson's letter reached the capital, congressmen and senators at once began seeking an opportunity to reply in speeches.

Leaders indicated they feared that Wilson may veto legislation pushed through in the last few days.

Wilson has some important bills now before him, including several unimportant bills. If he should veto these it would be almost impossible to re-pass them at the last minute and the president has indicated that he will call an extra session unless all appropriation bills are passed.

To Figure State Aid, Minimum Wage
Will be Accepted as a Basis, Announcement States

Rules to govern the disbursement of state aid to Hoosier school corporations and to govern what salaries for teachers shall be figured in the fixing of school tax levies this fall are contained in an announcement by L. N. Hines, state superintendent of public instruction, which has been received here.

"The minimum statutory levies of 50, 60 and 75 cents, specified in Section 4, Chapter 233, Acts of 1919," says the announcement, "must be levied in 1920 by all school corporations desiring to share in the distribution of the state aid school fund for the school year of 1921-22. In other words, the levies, fixed in September of the present year should be made in accordance with the requirements stipulated in said Section 4 of the Acts of 1919 as a basis for qualifying for state aid during the school year of 1921-22. This statement is made in accordance with the advice of the attorney-general.

"The department in this connection wishes further to advise that the suggested minimum wage for grade teachers determined by this department, will be accepted in figuring the amount of state aid a school corporation is entitled to, and that a salary of $3 a day for superintendents of town schools, and principals of township schools, and a salary of $7.50 a day for principals of town schools and assistant principal in each towns high school, and a salary of $6 a day for all other high school teachers employed to teach high school subjects only, will be approved until further notice where school corporations find it necessary to apply for state aid.

"A salary of $6.50 a day will be approved where a regular high school teacher is required to teach special subjects in the grades, such as agriculture, manual training, domestic science, music and art. Under no circumstances will said amounts be approved until satisfactory evidence is furnished showing clearly that these respective sums have been paid to teachers. If

INTERURBAN RUNS INTO EMPTY PUSH CAR

Serious Damage is Fortunately Averted But I. & C. Car is Put Out of Commission

CAR DIDN'T LEAVE TRACKS

A serious accident was fortunately averted this morning, when the westbound I. & C. traction car, leaving this city at 10:17, struck an unloaded push car, just west of the Hackleman crossing, a mile and a half west of Rushville, and because the motorman applied the brakes at once, the car did not leave the tracks.

Workmen were repairing the poles near stop 29 and left an empty push car on the right-of-way. The motorman was busy assorting mail and did not notice the car on the track until he was almost upon it. He at once put on the brakes, and said into the push car, destroying it and badly damaging the front end of the traction car, but keeping it on the tracks. The car's motor was broken off and the mechanism underneath of the front end was damaged so that the car was backed into the shop here and another car was substituted for the trip. It is considered fortunate that the traction car did not jump the track and turn over.

DISEASE AFFECTS TOMATO PLANTS

Nematodes Has Appeared on Many Plants That Were Shipped Into Indiana From The South

ATTACKS THE ROOTS FIRST

Causes Root Knot in Plants and May Prove Dangerous to The Crop—Advice is Given

Nematodes, which causes root knot in plants, has appeared on some tomato plants which have been shipped into Indiana lately according to the following statement sent out by the Purdue experiment station and received here by the county agent, D. D. Ball:

During the past week nematodes which cause the diseased condition of plants known as root knot have been found on some tomato plants which are being shipped into Indiana from the south. Root knot resembles somewhat the root tubercles of the legumes. This pest causes great losses to growers under greenhouse conditions, but owing to our winter weather conditions, so far as information at the Experiment Station shows, it has not developed in the open to a sufficient extent to cause serious loss, except in northern Indiana on muck soils.

Whether infested plants that are set in the field will produce a profitable crop is not known. There is no experimental evidence on this point. If healthy plants are available it is believed that diseased plants should not be used. Inspection of each lot of plants should be made to conserve those lots that are healthy and separate so far as possible such lots as are infested. Attention is specifically called to the fact that not all importations are infested.

It cannot be stated whether plants that were injured last year were infested or not. If so, they were able when set under field conditions to outgrow the disease, as uniformly good results were reported from the use of southern plants during 1919.

If plants affected with root knot are used, good soil, fertilization, cultivation, and good cultural methods generally will at least give these plants the best chance to overcome such trouble. It is also probable from the evidence at hand that in clay soils plants are less likely to be seriously injured.

The Experiment Station cannot at this time advise relative to the results that may be expected from the use of such plants. We cannot say that any damage will result but we feel that the tomato growers and canners are entitled to all information available in order that all may act in the light of the fullest knowledge.

This root knot trouble is caused by a microscopic worm which enters the root from the soil and causes the gall to develop. These worms multiply very rapidly within the galls.

Any lots of southern grown plants that appear to be infested may be heated in or treated and samples sent to the Experiment Station at Lafayette where they will be examined by specialists in the Department of Botany. Such plants may be held in the greenhouse until the Station has opportunity to determine whether root knot is present.

MILK IN INDIANA IS WORTH MONEY

Data Compiled Shows That Last Year Alone It Amounted to $100,000,000

PURDUE UNIVERSITY FACTS

Creamery Butter And Condensed Milk Are Included as Showing Big Gains in Dairy Business

Lafayette, Ind., June 5.—Although Indiana is probably fourth or fifth in the list of dairy states, figures gathered by the dairy department of Purdue University show that approximately 2,900,000,000 pounds of milk, worth $100,000,000 in round numbers, were produced in the state last year. The production figures represent an increase of 26 percent in the last four years. All the data is based on reports to the creamery license division by the manufacturers and on data gathered by the extension department dairymen.

Last year a total of 43,200,846 pounds of creamery butter were made in this state against 37,174,657 pounds the year before. The amount of condensed milk made increased from 29,574,337 pounds to 32,517,841 pounds in one year. A total of 6,371,370 gallons of ice cream were made in 1919, and 1,002,320,000 pounds of milk were used for direct consumption, while 580,500,522 pounds or its equivalent were shipped out of the state.

The only products which have shown a decrease in production are cheese and dairy butter. The former has decreased since 1914 from 2,119,220 pounds to 678,522 pounds and the annual production of dairy butter has dropped from a half billion pounds to 20,500,000. Creamery butter and condensed milk have shown the greatest increase in production.

The number of milk cows on the farms is gradually increasing, 727,000 being reported for last year, a gain of 27,000 over 1918, and of 87,000 since 1914. The value of milk to the producer has gone up from $1.50 in 1914 to $3.45 in 1919, due to the greatly increased cost of production.

The creamery license division has kept careful records of the production of butterfat in Washington County for the last two years. Practically all of the fat produced in that county is shipped from station to factories where it is made into creamery butter. In 1918, the stations of this county bought 488,378.9 pounds of fat and in 1919, 771,704.3 pounds. The number of cream buying stations increased the past year from 10 to 37 and the amount purchased by each station during the year was nearly as much as in 1918. All counties in southern Indiana have increased their dairy products materially.

BACK TO FARM FOR THEM

Two Hundred Male Students of Earlham to Harvest Crops

Richmond, Ind., June 5.—Two hundred male students of Earlham college are going back to the farm this summer to help farmers harvest their crops, says an announcement at the college today. Only a few of them have announced their intention to work in factories during the vacation and about twenty will take extra courses in the summer school. This is the first time in many years that the majority of Quaker boys have not sold books or merchandise during the vacation period.

Lieut. Joe Hitt Leaves For Ft. Sill—To Return to Speedway

Lieut. Joe Hitt of the Speedway Aviation field near Indianapolis, motored down here last night, and spent the evening with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hitt, southwest of this city, as he left today for Ft. Sill, Okla., where he will take a three months' schooling. Lieut. Hitt has frequently piloted an airplane from the Speedway to this city spending a few hours with his parents, and his removal from the Speedway was a surprise to his parents. Mr. Hitt was accompanied here last evening in the automobile by the sergeant who has made the trip with him in the plane. After the course in Oklahoma, he will return to the Speedway.

PLAN INCREASED EGG PRODUCTION

Marked Attention Should Be Paid to Feeding, Housing, Culling and Breeding.

BREEDING FLOCK ESSENTIAL

Free Range Gives Ideal Conditions for Fowls—Close Confinement Reduces Vitality of Stock—Mash Hoppers Favored.

Poultry keepers interested in increasing the egg production of their flocks will pay marked attention to the methods of feeding, housing, culling and breeding. Probably the least progress on most farms has been made in the art of breeding poultry, says T. S. Townsley, of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture, in Extension Circular 72.

To produce high layers only the best individual producers should be used as breeders. This suggests the necessity for having a special breeding flock. On farms where eggs for setting are saved from the entire flock, selection is usually based only on the size and shape of the eggs. With this system the breeder stands a good chance of setting many eggs from the very lowest producers. Even the poorest hens lay fairly well during the hatching season and their eggs are usually large and smooth. This method of mass selection of setting eggs is in the same class as the crib selection of seed corn and will bring just as poor results. The first step in improving the egg production is the establishment of a special breeding flock.

Free range is ideal. No special fencing is necessary to handle the flock. Free range gives ideal conditions for breeding fowls. A pen is a great detriment to the efficiency of the breeding flock and is not at all needed on the farm. Close confinement reduces the vitality of the flock and results in poor hatches and weak chicks.

Where separate houses are available for the breeding flock and the commercial flock, free range can be given the birds in each group. If feed is kept constantly available in the mash hoppers in each house the birds will return to the proper house to lay so that the eggs can be kept separate without any attention to yards. Of course, males should be supplied only for the breeding flock, and by keeping these birds in the house until eight or nine o'clock in the morning, satisfactory mating will be insured. Some mating may occur on the range between the hens in the commercial flock and the males from the breeding flock, but this does no special harm. On farms where there is only one poultry house, a partition can be put in to keep the two flocks separate. If it seems undesirable to allow both flocks to range at the same time, alternate the range by letting the breeders run at large one day, and the commercial layers the next. During the cool weather of the breeding season this system works satisfactorily.

Number of Breeders. The number of birds to include in the breeding flock should be determined by the number of high-class individuals available and by the number of eggs needed for hatching. If incubators are used, enough breeders should be kept to fill the machines without holding any eggs longer than two to twelve days. Usually a production of at least 50 per cent can be expected during the hatching season. Forty breeders should furnish enough eggs to fill a 200-egg machine within ten days. However, only hens of high producing ability should be used as breeders, even if it is necessary to buy some eggs for hatching.

LARGER YIELDS OF ALFALFA

Practically Double the Amount of Clover Hay Obtained in Tests at Wisconsin Station

Tests conducted on the Wisconsin experiment station farm at Madison show that alfalfa gives yields practically double that of clover hay and three times as much as timothy. An acre of alfalfa produced in a single season three times as much protein as an acre of clover and twice as much as an acre of timothy.

senate and house early today.

The senate at its night session confirmed the nominations of about 500 postmasters and when it convened today about 600 more remained to be acted on. Other pending nominations included those of John Skelton Williams, to be controller of the currency and of Martin J. Gillen to be a member of the shipping board. Indications were that neither of these nominations would be confirmed before adjournment.

Insistent demands from Senator Harris (Dem., Ga.) had brought from senate leaders the promise to act on his resolution asking the treasury department to make public the earnings of large corporations as shown by income tax statements.

Measures on which legislative action was completed last night and which were sent to the President today included:

The resolution repealing all wartime laws with the exception of the Lever food act and the trading with the enemy act; the bill granting increased pay to postal employees beginning July 1 and the merchant marine bill.

Measures which leaders said were certain to fail of enactment included:

The bill to regulate the meat packing industry, various tariff bills, the cold storage bill, the sugar embargo bill, legislation to bar dangerous aliens from the country and the bill authorizing the war department to operate the Mussel Shoals nitrate plant.

In his message vetoing the budget bill, the President declared the bill was unconstitutional because it took from the President the power to remove the controller-general and the assistant controller-general, both of whom would be appointed by him with the advice and consent of the senate. The President said he returned the measure unapproved "with the greatest regret" because he was "in entire sympathy" with its objects.

The vote, taken at midnight to pass the bill over his veto, was 178 to 103, or nine short of the required two-thirds majority. Thirty-five democrats joined with the republicans in voting to disregard the president's objection.

In his veto message the president expressed the hope that the clause to which he objected, might be changed before adjournment today.

TAKE PEPSINCO

Sometimes in front just under the heart, sometimes around under the left side, under the ribs behind the heart it's a sharp or acute pain; sometimes a dull, heavy pain, leaving soreness. It's gas on the inside generated through gaseous foods, or, because of systematic inability to properly assimilate the food, this gas soon collecting, forms a lump that causes the pain. This is only one of a dozen different indications which PEPsinco immediately relieves. Keep PEPsinco handy and take it the next time.

Strikes and "Justice"

The first purpose of the framers of the American Constitution as stated in the preamble, was "to form a more perfect union", and the second was "to establish justice". The more perfect union was necessary in order that the government might continue to exist. The establishment of justice was second in importance only to the union itself. In the establishment of justice the end to be accomplished in the protection of the many from the aggressions of the few and that is exactly the purpose of the proposed anti-strike railroad law. There can be no justice as between railroad employees and the public generally if the employees are to exercise the power to force payment of wages according to the standard which they fix under the threat of interruption of service. Justice does not exist where one of the parties to a bargain has the power to fix the terms of the bargain without the other party having any voice whatever in the matter.

Since the railroads have been placed under Government regulation and rates are established by a government tribunal, the question of wages is no longer one between the employee and the corporation. In the last analysis the public pays the bill. The public therefore has a right to a voice in saying what rate of wages shall be paid. Such is the purpose of the proposed anti-strike railroad bill. Under that measure a duly constituted and authorized government tribunal would take testimony and render decisions regarding rates to be charged by railroad companies for transportation of passengers or freight. The anti-strike law would establish justice, as nearly as justice can be attained.

Encouragement in Conditions

Notwithstanding some recession in business, encouragement is to be derived from the growing resistance to high prices and the manifest tendency toward economy throughout the country, according to the market letter in the June Commerce Monthly published by the National Bank of Commerce in New York. In so far as this tendency applies to luxuries, to non-essentials and to excessive constitute a needed corrective to the consumption of necessities, they present situation, the bank declares.

Some recession in business is in evidence as a consequence of increasing transportation difficulties and of a reduction in public buying, the letter states. Inability to make deliveries of materials because of railroad conditions has retarded turnover and prevented the releasing of an enormous volume of credit, thus accentuating the credit stringency. The closing down of plants has caused unemployment and lessened buying power in many sections. The volume of retail trade has been considerably reduced and cancellation of orders have been reported by some textile mills.

scarcity of money, excessive cost of material and by labor conditions. An extreme shortage of farm labor still continues, and this, in combination with a very late season, has served to delay all farm work and to lessen acreage planted. In most sections recent weather conditions have been more favorable for wheat growing than those which prevailed during April. Spring wheat seeding is not yet completed, but it is estimated that acreage planted will be from 10 to 15 percent, less than that of last year. While it is yet too early to estimate acreage planted in corn, it is thought that this year's acreage will be relatively large.

SEE IMPROVEMENT IN GERMAN VALUTA

Betterment of Conditions Gives Opportunity to Purchase Raw Material in Foreign Markets

BAD EFFECTS SEEN HOWEVER

Business Men Now Have Confidence That The Nation Will Stage a Speedy Come-back

By CARL D. GROUT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Berlin, (By Mail)—Improvement in German valuta (foreign exchange) plus a growing tendency on the part of the outside world to have constantly more confidence in her "come-back" ability, has raised the spirits of a large portion of her business men.

They see in improvement of the valuta an opportunity to purchase raw materials and needed goods in the foreign markets, whereas until recently such purchases were virtually prohibitive because of the bad position of the mark.

The valuta improvement set in shortly after the Kapp Putsch (revolt). At that time, the mark stood at 100 or more to the dollar; at the time this article is written the mark is 50 to the dollar, with signs of further strengthening.

A prominent banker informed the correspondent that the main reason for this improvement lay in the fact that the entente and America were now showing more conciliatory spirit than ever before; more evidences of confidence in the strength and ability of Germany; and more belief in the real democracy of the nation than ever before.

Naturally, the improvement of the valuta has had some untoward effects in certain quarters. For instance, many cotton concerns stocked up with considerable cotton when the mark stood around 100. Now, when their fabricated goods are ready, they cannot demand as many marks for their product as they could have when the valuta was different. This has caused some embarrassment. And, in the case of clothing, shoes and foodstuffs, it is notable that prices are still as high, and generally higher, than when the mark stood around 100. This naturally makes sales slow down.

But, all in all, the German business men are inclined to believe that the improvement is going to continue and that eventually the fact that he can buy his raw materials cheaper will work soon to his distinct advantage.

For the time being he is confining his foreign purchases to the lowest possible level, since he believes that he can get even better rates in a few weeks and thereby "even up" for the disadvantages entailed in his former purchases at the 100 per dollar basis.

Germany is rapidly overcoming transportation difficulties arising from a heretofore low output in the repair shops. At the present moment the lines are almost able to keep up with the demands upon them, and this new situation is largely the result of introduction of piece work in the machine shops.

Official reports show that in April and March about 1100 extra engines were repaired and put into commission. It is believed that by the close of the year, the shops will have "caught up."

The situation is quite manifestly improved. Whereas during the winter, trains never ran on time, there is now a fairly close adherence to schedule. And, whereas it was formerly necessary to use some passenger locomotives to keep up with the freight demands, the railroad administration is no longer forced to resort to this method to keep up with its freight business.

While the railroads face a staggering deficit, both freight and passenger rates have been materially increased and the government is hopeful that the systems can be placed again on a paying basis.

MEMORIAL FOR KITCHENER

LONDON, June 5.—Memorial services were held today for Field Marshal Earl Kitchenier, who perished four years ago when the British cruiser Hampshire, conveying him to Russia, struck a mine off the north coast of Scotland. German spies were blamed, but the mystery of Kitchenier's death has never been solved.

Amusements

Bessie Barriscale, Mystic

"Kitty Kelly, M. D." Bessie Barriscale's latest production which will be shown at the Mystic Monday hasn't a dull moment in it. It starts with a pop and sparkles on through to the end, like obsolete fizz water. And there's no headache, either, when it's consumed.

"Kitty Kelly, M. D." was an up-to-date twentieth century young woman resolved to make her own way, and she picked on a tough little mining town in the southwest to work out her destiny. Her arrival was the signal for an epidemic of alleged ailments on the part of the male denizens, and she showed her ability to diagnose their fake complaints as easily as she caused a real case of heart trouble in the handsome young mine foreman, Rand. Kitty also solves a murder mystery and saves Rand from dangling at the end of a rope, after Rand has rescued her from the oily bad-man Lothario of the town who enticed her to a cabin in the mountains.

The most magnificent interior Oriental decorations which ever have been seen in a motion picture are to be found in "The Tong Man," in which Sessue Tayawaka will be seen next Tuesday at the Mystic Theatre. This is a swiftly moving story of a great "tong" war, laid in the Chinatown of San Francisco, which Haworth has made for Robertson-Cole.

The heroine of the story is Sen Chee, daughter of Louie Toy, a rich Chinese merchant. Although the home in which they live in Chinatown looks shabby from the front it has a court in which there is a most exquisite garden, and its rooms are furnished in the most sumptuous of Oriental modes.

"Stolen Orders" at the Princess

A terrific fight in the car of a dirigible balloon is one of the big features in William A. Brady's big feature, "Stolen Orders." The fight ends in the combatants falling from the car to the ocean below. All of this you see plainly in this spectacular and sensational production. You see the men fighting, you see them fall from the car and you see their fall into the water. Not a single foot of this thrilling episode is faked. It is all real and, being real, it is, of course, extraordinarily exciting.

"Stolen Orders," the biggest feature production of the year, has been secured by the Princess theatre, and will be shown tonight only.

In seeing this super-feature you not only see the biggest thrills of the year, but you also see six famous stars—Kitty Gordon, Carlyle Blackwell, Montague Love, June Elvidge, George McQuarrie and Mudge Evans, the most notable cast ever assembled for the presentation of a feature picture.

From all viewpoints "Stolen Orders" is unexcelled in story, acting, thrills, direction and photography. In seeing "Stolen Orders" you see the year's biggest feature.

Perhaps You Are, Too

A friend of mine was worn out running around trying to buy a particular something-or-other.

Hours had been spent, also strength and temper, and the desired article had not been found.

I asked if a try had been made at such a store.

The reply was "No, of course not, they don't carry such things."

I disagreed. We went together and found what was wanted.

My friend said: "How did you know?"

"Easy," I replied. "They advertised them last week."

Without seeing the joke, she said: "I never have time to read advertisements. I'm too busy."

Perhaps you are, too. Many people are too busy to take time to save time, trouble, and money. They buy by hance—and hard work.

Reading advertisements is more than a time-saver; it's a good, safe investment in information concerning the best things the market offers you.

Honoring Miss Leda Hope Green, who returned yesterday from Oxford, Ohio, where she is a student of Western College, to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Green, her sisters and their families delightfully surprised her last evening with a six o'clock chicken dinner. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hall and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Miller and family.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Noble Township Farmers' Association will hold a meeting in the school house at New Salem Tuesday evening, June 8. The Farmer's Association will hold a meeting at the same time and place but the sessions will be separate. All women of the township are invited to attend this meeting. The following program will be given: piano duet, Vera Mercer and Mildred Wilson; business period: "Making a Little Sugar Go a Long Way," Mrs. Grace Carney; General discussion of Mrs. Carney's paper; song by the high school girls; "Chemistry of Sugar and Sugar Substitutes," Marian Sefton; piano solo, Kathleen McKee.

Yesterday afternoon the members of the W. R. C. Penny Social enjoyed a very delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. Edwin Lee in North Sexton street. Thirty-nine guests were present, including six visitors. Those from out of the city were Mrs. George Johnson of Washington, D. C., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Fanny Ridenbaugh, Mrs. Rachel Jones of Chicago, and Mrs. Little Armstrong of Jackson, Mo. The visitors living in this city who were present for the meeting, were Mrs. Mary Brown, Mrs. Homer Cole, and Mrs. Alvan Moore. Following the business session a very interesting program was given. Mrs. James Gregg led the singing, the members singing "America" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Mrs. Alice Bainbridge gave a reading and a reminiscence talk on the former organization of the Social was given by Mrs. Armstrong of Missouri, who formerly lived here. She discussed the organization the way she remembered it about ten or twelve years ago and how the club had progressed during the last few years. Mrs. Armstrong was a former member of the Penny Social when she lived here. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the program. The next meeting will be with Miss Anna Gilson in July.

MRS. JOHN W. LANGLEY

Mrs. John W. Langley, wife of Representative Langley of Kentucky, well-known in Washington society and congressional circles, who is the first woman to be elected to the Kentucky state central committee. Summer Girl Likes The Sweater—Nit

By MARGARET ROHE
(Written for United Press.)
In sport coat of jersey Smart looking was Sue; She'd no blouse beneath so She smarting was too.
New York, June 5—The purling brook goes on forever, but the purling that goes to make a sweater seems to have struck a sudden snag. At least so far as it concerns the summer girl of sorts and the summer girl of sports, the purl of the sweater has become a purl of too great price and as a novel sport garment she now like the sweater—nit.

Indeed the cost of the pure silk sweater of medium weight and close weave has become almost prohibitive and the fibre and near silk affairs cost more than a sensible person (and there are still a few extinct) cares to invest in an imitation. Besides sweaters have been with and on us so many seasons that they have long since lost any spark of originality and novelty or snappy pep.

Fashion has given birth to only one new sweater this season and that is a short surprise affair of wool that ties around the waist in a gash and ends its arms about the elbow in cunning little round French sleeves. Of course these sweaters are nothing more nor less than knitted surprise blouses but they are most attractive in some hectic shade, finished around the neck and sleeves with a set of sheer white organdie collar and cuffs embroidered in gay hued yarn.

Worn with the smart new sport coats of wool jersey which have superseded the sweater as the swaggar sport garment these collar and cuff sets are decidedly nifty. If the sport coat is a Tuxedo model worn open in front, a vest of the wool embroidered organdie is added to make a foursome and a hit. It acts as a substitute for an entire blouse, for to be really up to scratch sartorially these sport coats are worn nearly next to Nature—at least without the aid of even a net blouse. When the thermometer climbs one truly has to be itching to be smart in order to stick to these sans blouse effects. It often proves a bit embarrassing when a gallant escort insists on helping you off with your coat.

Besides being made of the plain white organdie, cross-barred and striped effects are used for these attractive cuff collar and vestie sets and also pastel tinted organdies as well.

For wear with the lovely crepey silk white skirts of Fantasi, stunning coats of silk poplin in vivid shades of Jade, Flamingo, Cerise and Egyptian blue are bound round cuffs, pockets and lapels in white with striking effect. With the wool jersey jackets, the serge and flannel skirts of pleated plaids and stripes are smartest and for the all white pleated skirts of wool the erstwhile popular and brilliant blazers are being revived with a vengeance. All sorts of color combinations from dazzling and unprecedented stripings that cause the conventional Zebra and Penitentiary stripes to pale into mediocrity. One almost needs smoked sun glasses as an eye protector against these dizzy blazer stripings that run riotously up and down and always along the very best lines.

Color has also rushed to the head of the sailor topped sport girl. The smart but subdued black, brown or straw hued sailor is now outclassed by fiery red, vivid organe or jazzy jade ones and a perfect sweet pea of a sailor is one of sheenful lavender straw with a Georgette band of all the sweet pea shades. It is quite the last straw of perfection.

Built for Fighting. The beak of the eagle is sharper and stronger than that of the vulture, and the claws, being required for the capture of living prey, are much more boldly curved and more sharply pointed. The beak of the eagle is nearly straight for some distance from the base and then suddenly turns downwards into a sharp hook.

Daily Thought. Where should the scholar live? In solitude or in society? In the green stillness of the country, where he can hear the heart of Nature beat, or in the dark, gray town where he can hear and feel the throbbing heart of man?—Longfellow.

BOOKS AS MEDICINE

Books are frequently referred to as tools and as the key to the treasure trove of knowledge. The American Library is daily demonstrating in U. S. Public Health Service Hospitals that convalescent soldiers and sailors find returning health and increasing strength in good books.

THE GARDEN'S POWERFUL ALLIES

Among the Friends Nature Enlists in the Garden's Behalf Are Spiders, Birds, Toads, Bats, Rain and Snow, Parasitic and Predacious Insects, and Fungi and Bacteria.

(Written for the United States School Garden Army)

Diseases caused by fungi and bacteria kill many insects, such as the house fly, grasshopper, and squash bug.

Parasitic insects.—Some insects are so small that they lay eggs inside the bodies of other insects. The eggs hatch and the larvae develop within the body of the host. An insect that is parasitized can not reach the adult stage.

Predacious Insects.—Wasps, lady bugs, tiger beetles, devil's riding horse, dragon flies are only a few of the many insects that feed entirely on other insects.

Spiders.—Spiders use various methods to catch their insect food. The web-weaving spiders build webs to entangle their prey. One thread of the web is made inelastic and the other is made sticky and elastic. Some of the crab spiders are brightly colored and conceal themselves in flowers where they wait for their prey. The insect visiting the flower gets within reach of the spider without seeing it. The running spiders depend upon their legs to catch insects, and "granddaddy longs" pounces on an insect the same way as a cat does on a mouse.

Snakes and lizards.—Both of these animals feed on insects.

these animals feed on insects.

Toad.—Every gardener should have a toad to help control insects. The toad's tongue is especially made for catching insects. It is estimated that a good-sized toad will destroy nearly 200 insects during a single night. During the daytime toads seek shelter in a moist cool place and come out in the cool of the evening. This is not only because the toad is a shy animal, but also because the bright warm sun injures his skin.

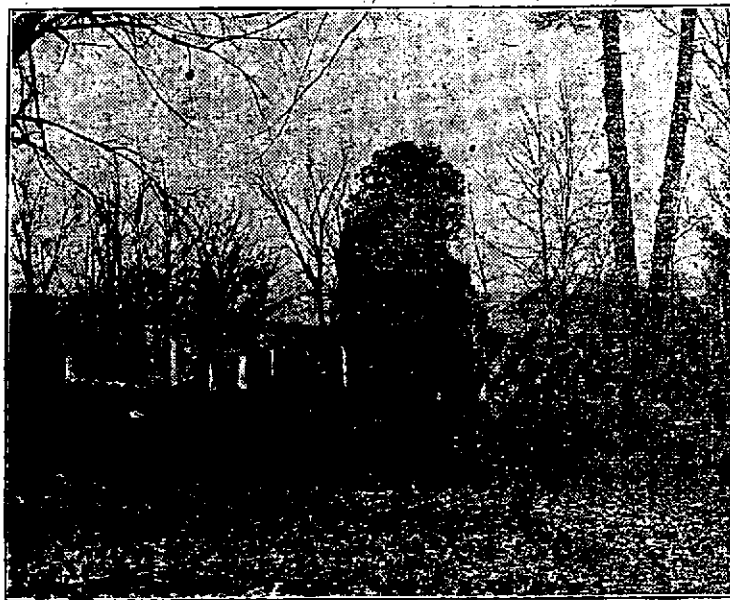

Birds.—In 4 hours and 32 minutes a mother wren made 100 visits to her little ones and fed them 111 insects and spiders. The food of so many birds consists so largely of insects, that the economic value of the birds of the United States amounts to many millions of dollars each year.

Aside from their economic importance, birds should be protected because of the joy they bring into human life.

Bats.—Bats, like toads, are busy during the evenings and nights, catching their insect food.

Rain and snow.—Rain and snow first freezing on plants and then melting, break up and wash away many insects' eggs laid on the branches and stems of the plants.

"God's Acre" on University Campus

In a corner of the Indiana University athletic field is "God's Acre," the burying ground of the Dunn family. Years ago what is now the campus was known as Dunn's woods—a part of the tract of land belonging to the Dunn family. When the University was moved to its present site during the eighties it was with the understanding that the cemetery should remain. The new buildings have been built and grown old around it; the cheers and enthusiasm of generations of students have waked the echoes, but the old cemetery is as serene as in those long ago days when the University was founded and this continued to be a peaceful spot during the Centennial festivities of the University this week.

Dove Figures in Folklore. The dove or pigeon has occupied a prominent place in folklore, legend and history since the bird brought the olive branch to Noah. The earlier artists used the dove frequently in their religious paintings. The "Maid and Child," and the angels are shown with white pigeons fluttering about them. The bird was made the symbol of divine spirit. It appears in pictures of Christ's life and baptism. St. John (1:32) says: "I saw the spirit descending from heaven like a dove."

Tin Miners Have Privileges. The men who work in the Cornish tin mines are a class by themselves, and all their differences are adjusted by the stannary courts, as they are called from the Latin word stannum, meaning tin. These curious courts have existed in their present form since the middle of the thirteenth century, and in a simpler form, much earlier, and the miners claim to be free from all other jurisdiction, except in matters affecting the land, life or limb.

WORLD CONGRESS OPENS AT GENEVA

Meeting Hopes to Deal Principally With Matters Pertaining to The Rights of Women

U. S. LARGELY REPRESENTED. British Woman Preacher to Preach

in Geneva Cathedral—First Time Woman Occupied Pulpit

(By United Press.)

GENEVA, June 5—It is expected that well-known women drawn from all parts of the world will take part in the Woman's Congress which is scheduled to open here tomorrow.

Lady Astor is to represent the British Government, Mrs. Philip Snowden, wife of the prominent British Socialist, represents the International Labor Party, Mrs. Swinick and Mrs. Pethwick Lawrence, the Women's International League, and the Women's Industrial League of Britain is sending two delegates.

The League of Nations' agenda includes a proposal from Britain that the League should set up a department to help raise the status of women the world over.

The congress hopes to deal principally with the matter of equal suffrage, the abolition of slavery of women, equal nationality rights for married women, equal guardianship rights for women over their children, civil rights for married women, an equal moral standard, equal pay for equal work, mothers' pensions, etc.

Miss Mande Royden, the British woman preacher, will preach in Geneva Cathedral—the first time that a woman has occupied a Swiss pulpit. It is considered here specially interesting that the pulpit whence Calvin formerly preached should be the scene of the innovation.

The United States delegates included Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy; Mrs. Martin Strand, Chicago; Miss Frederiek Nathan, New York; Miss Stanley McCormick, New York; Mrs. Jacob Bauer, Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis and Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, all of Chicago; Mrs. Desha Breckenridge, Kentucky; Helen Ring Robinson, former State Senator from Colorado, and Mrs. Robert J. Kohlhamer.

MEET EXPENSES BY DOING HOUSEWORK

Indiana University Girls Have Many Plans to Earn Money to Attend School.

Sixteen girl students at Indiana University are working their way through school by doing housework. In addition five girls are engaged in stenographic work and seven do clerical work.

Board and room are given for four hours of service each day. Twenty-five cents per hour is allowed for extra time spent on housework or care of children in the day time. Staying with children when they are asleep nets ten cents for extra time. Girls must have at least two evenings and two afternoons free per week.

For staying with the children when asleep fifteen cents is to be paid for the first hour and ten cents for each hour after. For one hour only twenty cents is allowed if the children are asleep and twenty-five if awake. After 10:15 the girl is to be escorted home or sent in a taxi.

Get Dinner Too. Girls are to be paid $2.50 per week and allowed their dinner each day for preparing dinner and washing the dishes, with twenty-five cents for overtime work. Regular time is counted as two and a half hours (5 to 7:45).

Twenty-five cents per hour is the minimum wage for cleaning, sweeping or dusting, while thirty cents is the maximum. Washing and ironing bring thirty cents an hour, mending and plain sewing thirty cents and dish washing and waiting table twenty-five cents.

Trained workers may ask thirty-five cents per hour for typewriting or stenographic work. Clerical work brings twenty-five cents per hour.

COUNTY TO BE REPRESENTED

The Wool Growers of the State will meet Tuesday in connection with the state meeting of the Indiana Farmers' association, and each county will have a representative at the Wool Growers' meeting to discuss the situation throughout the state. B. B. Benner of Mays, chairman of the Rush county wool committee, will go from here as a delegate and the meeting will create much interest throughout the state because most counties have turned down bids for a wool pool and the meeting will be to formulate plans for marketing of the wool.

ROBINSON DESCRIBES HOME SERVICE WORK

STATE CHAIRMAN OF SALVATION ARMY APPEAL SHOWS FUND ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY.

TELLS OF WORK IN 1919

Indianapolis—(Special)—What the Salvation Army accomplished in its home service work in Indiana last year is shown in the reports of the corps commanders just compiled at the state headquarters of the Home Service Appeal, and made public in an announcement by Major Arthur R. Robinson, state chairman of the canvass being made for Salvation Army funds.

The Home Service Appeal is being made in practically every county in the state to provide funds with which the Salvation Army will carry on its service to humanity during the coming year. A budget calling for $452,000 has been adopted and that quota has been assigned to the state.

The enrollment plan is being used in every county. Team workers are distributing blank forms on which supporters of the Salvation Army, especially those interested in seeing social uplift work kept up, pledge themselves to give certain amounts. The enrollment blanks are to be collected at the conclusion of the canvass.

"Service to Humanity."

In his announcement showing what the Salvation Army did in home service work the last twelve months, Chairman Robinson set forth a number of interesting facts which will give the public an intimate idea of just what is meant by the Army's "service to humanity."

The Robinson statement shows that 28,550 pounds of coal were distributed free to poverty-stricken families by the various Army posts in the state. A total of $880.20 was given in cash to penniless persons seeking to get to distant homes or to pay landlords who threatened eviction of families with children and bed-ridden members. Funeral expenses were paid in two instances by the Army's home service workers; one case being at Peru and the other at New Albany.

Nursed Flu Victims.

During the epidemic of influenza the Salvation Army provided nurses in homes where there were no funds to pay help. Home service workers helped direct funerals where entire families were ill and there was no one to look after these arrangements.

The report shows another and entirely different angle of the Army's work in discussing what was done by Capt. Beasley, in charge of the corps at Terre Haute. At the home-coming of that city for soldiers and former service men the Army workers provided 750 gallons of coffee, as its fare in the welcoming exercises. The Terre Haute post also held an outing for poor mothers and their children and entertained them with a bountiful luncheon. During the coal strike of last fall the Salvation Army was the only organization which gave aid to the suffering families of striking miners.

Reform Prisoners.

In addition to all these activities the daily routine of the Salvation Army is carried on. Prisoners and ex-convicts are prayed with and advised. Many of them are converted. Wayward girls are given homes and helped to get back on the right path. Positions for jobless men and women are found, religious meetings are held almost nightly, especially in the larger cities.

In Muncie, a city of over 25,000, there is not a single place for homeless refugees to stay except in the Salvation Army home. Not even the police station provides for the overnight lodging of penniless persons, according to the report of Ensign Jesse Vanderpool, in charge of the Muncie post. The Salvation Army offers the only welcome to "fortunates," and during the last several months meals and beds were given free to over 100 persons by Ensign Vanderpool.

Work is Necessary.

"These varied activities combine the home service work of the Salvation Army," Major Robinson points out. "It requires no further argument to show why the people of Indiana are duty-bound to support the home service appeal. If the Salvation Army did not take care of the unfortunates who temporarily become public charges in almost every community, public institutions would be obliged to and the taxpayers would have to provide the expense."

"Through home service a great majority of the applicants for aid are straightened out and set on their feet in a manner that could never be done in public institutions."

OLD BUT FEELS LIKE NEW

J. B. Williams, 1035 E. Boulder St., Colorado Springs, Colo.: "I feel lots better since I started to take Foley Kidney Pills. I used many different kinds of medicine for the same trouble, but to no good. I am 73 years old, and as far as that trouble I am a new man. You may print this as it may benefit some one troubled as I was." Middle-aged persons who feel old before their time find Foley Kidney Pills strengthen and restore kidneys and bladder to healthful activity. F. B. Johnson—Adv.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

Go hand in hand. Good eyesight is an important factor in health. Eyestrain usually means nerve strain, and nerve strain lowers resistance to disease.

Have your eyes examined regularly, whether you feel the need of glasses or not. In this way you can check promptly the inroads of eyestrain.

I Don't Believe That there is a car on the market today selling for less than $2000 that can compare with the Essex. I have driven one about 7,000 miles and had very little trouble with it, and most of my trouble was caused by own carelessness. I have added to this car about $150 in extras and I am now asking $425 less than the price of a new car, which would be $1470. I think it is worth that much to anybody that wants a good, serviceable and speedy car, but if you are interested and think that you want this car, make me an offer and perhaps we can come to terms. MONDAY BUSY DAY IN THE AUDITOR'S OFFICE

County Board of Review Will Convene in Annual Session and Commissioners Will Meet

ROAD CONTRACT WILL BE LET

Monday will be a busy day in the auditor's office, because the county board of review will convene for its annual session and the county board of commissioners will be in regular monthly session.

In addition to allowing the usual claims and transacting other routine business, the commissioners will also receive bids on the Redenbaugh road in Orange township.

The county board of review faces a big task in equalizing the assessments on personal property taken this spring by the township assessors. It is said that although most of the townships are close to the total valuation fixed last year, some of them are far below last year's total appraisements, not counting the horizontal increases put on by the state board of tax commissioners. The board of review will be in session twenty-eight days and will hear complaints of taxpayers regarding assessments.

PENROSE WILL NOT ATTEND CONVENTION

Bulletin Issued at His Home Says He Has Consented to Follow Physician's Advice

RUMORED HE HAD RELAPSE

(By United Press.)

Philadelphia, Pa., June 5.—United States Senator Penrose, republican national committeeman and one of Pennsylvania's twelve delegates at large, will not attend the republican national convention, it was announced in a bulletin issued by his physician from his home today.

The bulletin read: "Senator Penrose has finally consented to follow the advice of his physicians and has given up his trip to Chicago."

A report was circulated late today that Penrose suffered another relapse. Five physicians were said to have been summoned to his bedside.

ISSUES A NOTICE ON FIXING LEVIES

A superintendent has been employed for $7 a day, it will not be possible for a school corporation to apply for and receive state aid for a sum in excess of that. The department recognizes that the above salaries are not adequate in all cases, and recommends that these amounts be increased when necessary—the increases to be paid out of the special school fund.

The announcement refers to a prior announcement in which it was made plain that the 50, 60 and 75-cent levies mentioned in the law should be reduced in proportion to the increase in the valuation of the 1918 valuation of taxable property over 1918, or in other words that a total levy of 85 cents would be assumed by the state board of commissioners to be made up by a levy of 50 cents under the old valuation, when the valuation has doubled and that greater increases in valuations, commencing 1919, 1918, should reduce the state levies proportionately.

The grand eucalyptus trees in Clipperton are probably the grandest of their kind in the world, and quite as magnificent as the California giant; only not so large in circumference. The shedding of their bark is a misstatement. What the tree does do is this: It sheds the old, dry, broken, and cracked bark, but the new one is sound and solid, and is not shed. The new bark is clean and very smooth, no branches being for 100 feet or more.

J. T. ARBUCKLE WILL PRESIDE AT MEMORIAL

Annual Union Services of Four Rushville Lodges Will be Held at East Hill Sunday

ARCH HOBBS TO BE SPEAKER

J. T. Arbuckle, former grand master of the Odd Fellows lodge in Indiana, will preside at the annual union lodge memorial services at East Hill cemetery Sunday afternoon, it was announced today. The invocation will be pronounced by the Rev. Clyde S. Black, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, and the address will be delivered by Arch Hobbs, great keeper of records for the Red Men's lodge in Indiana. The announcement that Mr. Hobbs will speak is expected to attract a large crowd as he has delivered addresses in Rushville before, and his reputation as an orator is well and favorably known here.

The Red Men, Odd Fellows, Modern Woodmen and Knights of Pythias will participate in the joint services. Members of all four lodges will march to East Hill, the procession moving at two o'clock, led by the Odd Fellows band. Committees from the four lodges will mark the graves of departed members in the morning and lodgemen will leave their flowers with a committee at the entrance to East Hill as they march in.

Claud Simpson to Represent the Club at Roswell, N. M.

Claud Simpson of Roswell, New Mexico, former Rushville man and at one time editor of the Daily Republican, arrived in Rushville today, having come to Indiana to represent the Ad Club of Roswell at the sixteenth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which will open in Indianapolis today. Mr. Simpson was accompanied by his wife. They were visiting relatives here today and will go to Indianapolis tomorrow for the convention. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson will probably visit here again, after the convention closes, for a few days, before returning home.

AD CONVENTION TO OPEN SUNDAY

and in the selected and officers for the year elected.

The interdepartment session will offer an opportunity to hear the best of all things offered at the many sessions. Each department at the close of its first session will select in its own way the best and most hopeful address to which it has listened, and send it to the national program committee. From these recommendations of the departments the committee will construct the interdepartment program. In this way there will be brought together the cream of the best thought of all departments of advertising. It will demonstrate the fundamental unity of all forms of advertising and will move into one powerful voice the answer of the convention as a whole to its central theme.
